

My Diary

1st March (Sunday)

Rainy

In the morning, I woke up at 7p.m. Then, I had breakfast and did the washing-up. My sister cleaned the dining table. After that, Mum was so pleased with what we were doing. I felt fulfilled as I could help with some housework and take up more responsibilities. In the afternoon, I surfed the Internet at home. While I was surfing the Internet, an advertisement of a charity popped up on the screen. In the advertisement, I saw how bad the living conditions were in poor countries. I felt sad and had empathy on the children under poverty because they were suffering. So, I went to the charity and donated all of my red packets.

In the evening, I went home and shared what I learnt today with my family while we were having dinner. I felt grateful because I live in an abundant society and am enjoying the affluent supplies from my parents. I learnt that I always live in abundance and should be grateful.
