

Hot Task

In the middle of the forest?* Jack thought he was crazy, after all, he had seen many weird things but not this. Jack slowly opened the door, and inside was something he never expected. It was a lush and beautiful garden. He looked around the garden and walked in carefully.

He was amazed by how pretty the flowers were when they bloomed, he had completely forgotten his mission.

All of the sudden, the door slammed behind him and locked. And he was trapped there forever...
