

Too Many Computer Games

Last Sunday, Bob was playing computer games. Until his mom came into the room stomping her feet in frustration, “Bob! It’s 3 a.m. already and you have an English test tomorrow. You have to go to sleep instead of playing your computer games!” Bob replied, rolling his eyes. “But I am playing with my friends, just give me 30 more minutes!” His mom started to get mad. “Bob! You are addicted to your computer games, you need to manage your time!” Bob got annoyed, turning off his computer. “Fine! I will go to sleep!” So Bob went to bed but his room was still messy.

The next day, Bob woke up but he was running late! He quickly packed up his bag, not eating breakfast, and ran to school, when he got there he realized he had an English test! He went to his desk, resting on his desk and said angrily. “Bob, wake up! What time did you even sleep last night!” Bob was still tired, rubbing his eyes “I don’t know? Maybe 3 a.m. or something?” His teacher was getting mad and shouted “3 a.m.! No wonder you’re so tired! Bob, go wash your face in the bathroom and clean yourself up, your hair is a mess right now!” After Bob washed his face, the test started. Bob realized didn’t study and said to himself regretting not studying. “I should have studied, my mom is going to be upset when I fail.”

On Tuesday, his teacher gave everyone their test except Bob. His teacher said disappointedly, “Bob, see me after school and bring your mom.” After school, Bob came with his mom to his teacher’s office. His teacher started disappointedly, “Thank you for coming. I want to tell you about Bob’s grades about his test from yesterday. He in fact didn’t study but also didn’t get enough sleep, not to mention he even got an F on the test too!” She handed the test to Bob’s mom, his mom was very disappointed when she got the test Bob failed. After Bob and his mom got home, Bob apologized “Mom I am sorry. I didn’t study, I was too focused on the games” Bob apologized, his mom was still a bit disappointed but forgave him.

After that day, Bob knew to study first then play games.