

Hot Task

Once upon a time, there were two kids, Brooklyn and Jamal. They went on an adventure in the woods. They found a door and they went in it. Sensing a dark and uncomfortable aura, they tried to leave. But there was no exit, the only thing they could do was walk more forward, then suddenly they were greeted with the roar of a unknown dinosaur. Turns out, they got sent to the Jurassic era and there was chaos everywhere. Jamal cried as he ran. They got rescued by a squad of raptors in time, but one of them bit Brooklyn and made her start bleeding like a waterfall. Then Brooklyn was dragged to the raptor pit and got eaten, piece by piece, Jamal felt angry, he had adrenaline and was about to go fight the raptors, but he didn't, he was afraid. And he searched everywhere, but there was no door no humans, the whole island was filled with death and horror, that's when he thought "What if I swim to some land, maybe I can find people." So that's what he did, he swam quickly and in a flash, he saw land with people and houses. He swam like his life depended on it, he was so happy then he felt a huge presence and he accepted his death, having his body and bones swallowed and crushed by the mosasaurus. As his survival was over.